Parochial School Growth Takes Big Strides In U.S.

By TOM HENSHAW
NEW YORK (AP) — "Education," say the Seventh-day Adventists, "should be threefold—equal development of the mental, physical and spiritual."

And there is a growing tendency among some churches to concentrate all three developments under one roof—the parochial school.

In the 15 years since the end of World War II, enrollment in public schools has gone up about 50 per cent. But enrollment in church-related schools has doubled in the same period.

Roman Catholics lead the way. Their big network of elementary and secondary schools in the United States lays claim to being the largest private school system in the world.

Last week, the Church announced just how big an enterprise it is: 4,262,100 pupils in 10,279 grade schools and 827,912 students in 2,401 high schools.

About one out of every nine of the nation's 42 million school kids attends a Catholic school.

Smaller, and therefore less likely to be noticed, are the thriving parochial school systems maintained by a number of Protestant churches, chiefly those concerned with doctrinal purity.

The largest of the Protestant parochial systems is that maintained by the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod.

By the latest count, Missouri has 144,240 pupils in 1,284 elementary schools and 8,019 students in 17 high schools, chiefly concentrated in the Middle West.

Some of the schools are quite large. The largest high school, Luther High School North in Chicago, has 1,102 students. The biggest grammar school, in Ft. Wayne, Ind., has 693.

Now, as the second largest Protestant system, the Seventh-day Adventists number 41,842 grade school pupils and 11,591 high school students.

Lisbon Social Notes

Friendship night was observed on Thursday night when Mrs. Perry Rigby of E. Lincoln Way was hostess to the Gamma Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority, with Columbian chapter members as guests.

Mrs. Jean Blocksom, president, presided over the business and presented vocal solos. She sang "I Walked Where Jesus Walked" and "How Great Thou Art."

Mrs. O. C. Caldwell had the program on "The Pictorial Life of Christ," showing pictures of the Holy Land taken by her on a recent trip there.

Attending from Columbia were: Mrs. Ruby Brubaker, Mrs. Edith Hooper, Mrs. Alice Isaksen, Mrs. Ruth Hepp, and Mrs. Miriam Munyon.

Serving on the lunch committee were Mrs. Betty Rutter, Mrs. Lucille Passage, Mrs. Thelma Gettig, Miss Grace Todd and Mrs. Norma Nulff.

The next meeting will be June 16 at Thompson Hall.

MEMBERS OF THE Welcome Wagon Club enjoyed a dinner at Johnny Garneau's Smorgasbord near North Lima Thursday night. This was the annual spring outing for the group.

Husbands and special guests were invited, husbands attending were William Hayes, past president of the Lisbon Teacher Assn., William Hackett, high school teacher, and Atty. Joseph Baronzzi. Mrs. Harry Martin of Gainesville, Texas, was a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Marion Burch.

The next meeting will be a family picnic sometime in June.

20th Century Club was entertained by Mrs. G. V. Weinstock at her home on Canfield Rd. Thursday night.

Trophies at bridge were awarded Mrs. Edwin Bucher, Mrs. Robert Leggett and Mrs. Eddie James. Mrs. Charles Faust was a guest.

On June 2 the group will have a dinner party at the Mural Room in Youngstown.

THE DAUGHTERS OF America met Thursday night in their hall on N. Market St., with Mrs. Olive Scott, counselor, in charge.

First nomination of new officers was held and second nomination was set for next Thursday, when anniversaries of members will be observed. Election of officers will be held June 2.

A social time followed. Mrs. Nannie Meehan and Mrs. Virginia Williams won the 500 prizes, and Mrs. Sadie Rose and Mrs. Elizabeth Polite won prizes in other games.

Author Pasternak In Serious Condition

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris Pasternak is in serious condition after suffering a relapse.

He had been reported making a recovery following a heart attack and stomach hemorrhage.

The author of the controversial novel "Dr. Zhivago" is at his home in the village of Peredelkino, the artist-write colony about 15 miles from Moscow.

Pasternak, 70, was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature in 1958. He later declined the honor after Soviet writers and newspaper attacked him on the grounds his "Dr. Zhivago" was an indictment of Soviet Communist methods.

Pasternak now is said to be suffering from inflammation of the lungs along with a weakened heart wall. One informant said the illness was approaching a crisis. Outsiders were unable to visit the stricken writer.

Youth Pleads Guilty In Death of Father

CLEVELAND (AP)—Scott Forbush, 18, indicted for first-degree murder for killing his father Feb. 29, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter Friday.

County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan said his staff felt that in view of the youths history of mental trouble it would be impossible to secure a conviction on the more serious charge.

He noted that court psychiatrists had determined Forbush presently sane but mentally ill. The boy faces an indeterminate term in the reformatory and is expected to get mental treatment while there.

He had fired a .22-caliber pistol, killing his father, Dallas H., an insurance company executive, while he slept, and wounded his mother also.

A FAST CLIP — Record sales have moved right along for the past 10 years. C.B.S. figures show that 1959 sales were 316 per cent of those in 1950. Big jump after 1955 was caused by introduction of record clubs, popularity of hi-fi and increasing demand for Broadway show albums. "My Fair Lady" alone sold over three million.

Hargrove Admitted Buying Gun, Chief Says

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Mentor police chief says Floyd Hargrove, on trial for first-degree murder in the slaying of Charles R. Clark, admitted buying a .22 caliber rifle under an assumed name the day before Clark was killed.

Chief Frank D. Hathy testified Friday that Hargrove admitted buying the rifle in Chardon Dec. 23, using the name of Robert G. MacClaren.

The chief said Hargrove made the admission Jan. 2 after he was re-arrested at the home of his mother in Toledo. Hargrove had been questioned previously in the sniper slaying of Clark but had been released.

Hathy identified a slug he said had been taken from a utility pole after Hargrove told him of firing a test shot into the pole with the rifle.

Clark was shot down as he stood in the kitchen of his home at Mentor last Christmas Eve.

LISBON TRAFFIC MISHAP — Mrs. Mary Fry, 44, of Guilford Lake backed out of a parking stall on Park Ave. and struck a car driven west by Kenneth Koffel, 31, of W. Lincoln Way Friday at 10 a.m. minor damages were caused.

Usually you don't know you have termites until they have done serious, hidden damage to your home. Sometimes, however, you may discover these danger signals:

Swarming Termites If you see "flying ants" near your home, these may be swarming termites... a definite warning of a nearby termite infestation.

Termite Tubes Termites sometimes build thin mud-like tubes on foundation walls or pillars. These tubes are a sure sign of serious termite attack.

Rotted Wood Termite damage resembles rot. If you find honeycombed and ridged wood around your house, then you know termites are at work.

STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE

Mr. Welling mows his lawn every Saturday — he and his two assistants.

Technically, it's a one-man operation. But not to Billy and Jean. They insist on helping.

And, what is more, they NEED to help! Imitating what Daddy does is standard operating procedure for children. It's an essential part of growing up.

Remember this need as another Sunday approaches. You are alarmed over the spread of delinquency. You are determined that your children have adequate religious education.

The Church can provide all but one of the essentials in religious education. THE EXAMPLE which affords real incentive for your children's every effort MUST COME FROM YOU.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

No Confidence

Alfred A. Benesch, a member of the Cleveland Board of Education whose tax levy proposals were voted down in the May primary, wonders how many other board members are tempted to resign. Explaining his state of mind at a board meeting this week, he compared what happened to the Cleveland school proposals at the polls to parliamentary government when it cannot command a vote of confidence.

"In England and France, when an administration proposal is defeated," he said, "the prime minister resigns. Maybe that's what they want; maybe they believe we should let them run the schools. I won't say I'll resign if their attitude persists, but I'm strongly tempted to and I know that other board members are so tempted."

"The membership of this board represents 75 years of service. I am curious to know whether the Chamber of Commerce and the others who oppose the levies feel they are more competent than we to run the schools. If they are, we should abdicate in their favor."

Mr. Benesch has stated what many school board members have thought when they encountered opposition to financial proposals—that their opponents should be made to bear responsibility for their opposition. Instead, it has been the practice whenever school board proposals are defeated for board members, themselves, to pick up the pieces and keep the schools open.

This has been a tribute to the loyalty and patience of these unpaid trustees of public education, but it also has been an open invitation to irresponsible opposition. With Mr. Benesch, many citizens wonder what the effect might be if opponents of school financing proposals always were warned in advance that resignations would follow defeat of school board proposals. There might be less opposition.

As Generous As Rockefeller

It seems highly improbable that even the richest class warriors will think of anything derogatory to say about John D. Rockefeller Jr., whose death at 86 has punctuated a lifetime demonstration of enlightened capitalism.

Even employer baiters and creeping and galloping socialists will have to go slow in their comments about the son of the man who gave rise to the simile "as rich as Rockefeller." The elder Rockefeller, himself, made his wealth a symbol of generosity before he died, but it remained for his son to show the world what systematic generosity could do. "As generous as Rockefeller" is the new simile.

A record of what the Rockefeller wealth has done would fill volumes. Even then, only the high points would be included. Millions of individuals have been its beneficiaries. It has made miracles happen. The way it has been distributed and administered is the most powerful argument ever conceived against socialization.

In the hands of socializers, the source of the wealth would have been dried up and destroyed. Its distribution would have been cramped and restricted by politics. Bitterness and recriminations would have followed it. Politicians would have had their fingers in it up to the elbow. Leverage experts would have used it to pry their pet projects up and down and back and forth.

No one else would have been inspired to divert wealth into philanthropy and broad social improvement on the same gigantic scale. The anticapitalist world never would have known that a vast private fortune could be cast upon the waters in a way that would bring it back a hundredfold not only to its owners but to the society that made it possible.

John R. Rockefeller Jr. had a great vision. He was steadfast in its pursuit. He was the greatest steward of his time and the demonstrator of a secret that could transform the world—the secret of putting wealth to work to create not only more wealth but a richer world.

They Turn and Run on a Dime

The Highway Transportation Congress, which worries about getting more roads built, heard bad news from speakers at its meeting in Washington last week.

Small cars are getting so much more gas mileage than big ones that the federal government and the states will have lost a half billion dollars by the middle of the decade. That is, actual income from gasoline taxes will be a half billion dollars under the estimates on which road-building programs are based.

There would be no sense in trying to make up the shortage by boosting the taxes, moreover, because high taxes already have subsidized the manufacturers and distributors of small cars. Their best selling point is the fact the small ones not only turn on a dime but can run on a dime—as much as 10 miles, or a little more than a penny a mile, in some instances.

Why Shouldn't They Pay?

Gov. DiSalle has met bitter resistance in some quarters in his efforts to have Atty. Gen. McElroy collect some 260,000 back bills totaling half a billion dollars owed for mental patient care in state hospitals.

It is difficult to understand the resistance. There would be great difficulty, of course, in any attempt to collect a bill many years old, as many of the bills are. No surviving relative could be expected to be haunted by a bill about which he had no previous knowledge and could not possibly be prepared to

But certainly patients in state institutions should be expected to pay for services to them if they can afford to do so.

The state institutions were set up to care for people who need care. If they cannot pay, taxpayers foot the bill. If they can pay, the state should collect. There is no fairness in the state's permitting a patient to leave an estate to relatives after his death while still owing the state of Ohio.

The trouble has been that for years no real effort has been made to collect these bills. Now that he has discovered them piled up, Gov. DiSalle is trying to do something about them.

Even if they oppose collecting back bills, taxpayers of Ohio should support him in a real effort to collect money due the state whenever it is collectible.

Once Over

Khrushchev is for lessening tensions if it takes his last hatchet. He is for better understandings through rock tossing. Summit conferences look like a rerun of world's most famous battles, including Bastogne.

The conversation in Paris on the opening day: "Who got out of that car with Nikita?" "I dunno but it WASN'T EMILY POST."

Soviet leader seemed to be saying:

I love summit sessions.

And if I destroy 'em

They'll do me no harm.

De Gaulle was in the embarrassing spot of a host who welcomes everybody to the house for a musicale with cocktails and immediately has to shout: "Tie down all the heavy furniture, put away the crockery, watch for flying bookends and see that nobody puts the kitchen sink into orbit!"

It's clear from here in that bumpers front and rear on summit delegates should be compulsory. Russians were for ending the spy-sky meeting in a hurry because they had to get home fast and keep up their own world-wide espionage without recesses.

"Ike and Nikita weren't on speaking terms. (Is that bad?) Best hope of peace could be to make sure no delegates spoke to one another."

"The summit synchronized 'Going up' with 'Going down' and 'All out!'"

Imagine a situation in which it is necessary to SUE FOR PEACE AT A PEACE CONFERENCE!!!

It was like holding a brotherly love session in the backroom of a saloon. Nikita went higher into the air than the dummy in his spaceship. It's a screwball world when the top leaders can't get a friendly talk on averting global destruction without the beanball, the low punch and the cry of "Drop that gun!"

TV's "OPEN END" with Dick Nixon was the best tranquilizer we have had in years. It should have been called "Open Bore."

Some smart politicians say that Khrushchev's demand that no summit sessions be held until after Ike's administration is replaced may guarantee GOP victory. Nixon has been Ike's right-hand man, approving all his acts and policies and there's a big chance he will be helped by characteristic indignation of American voters to be told by a foreign dictator that there must be a change.

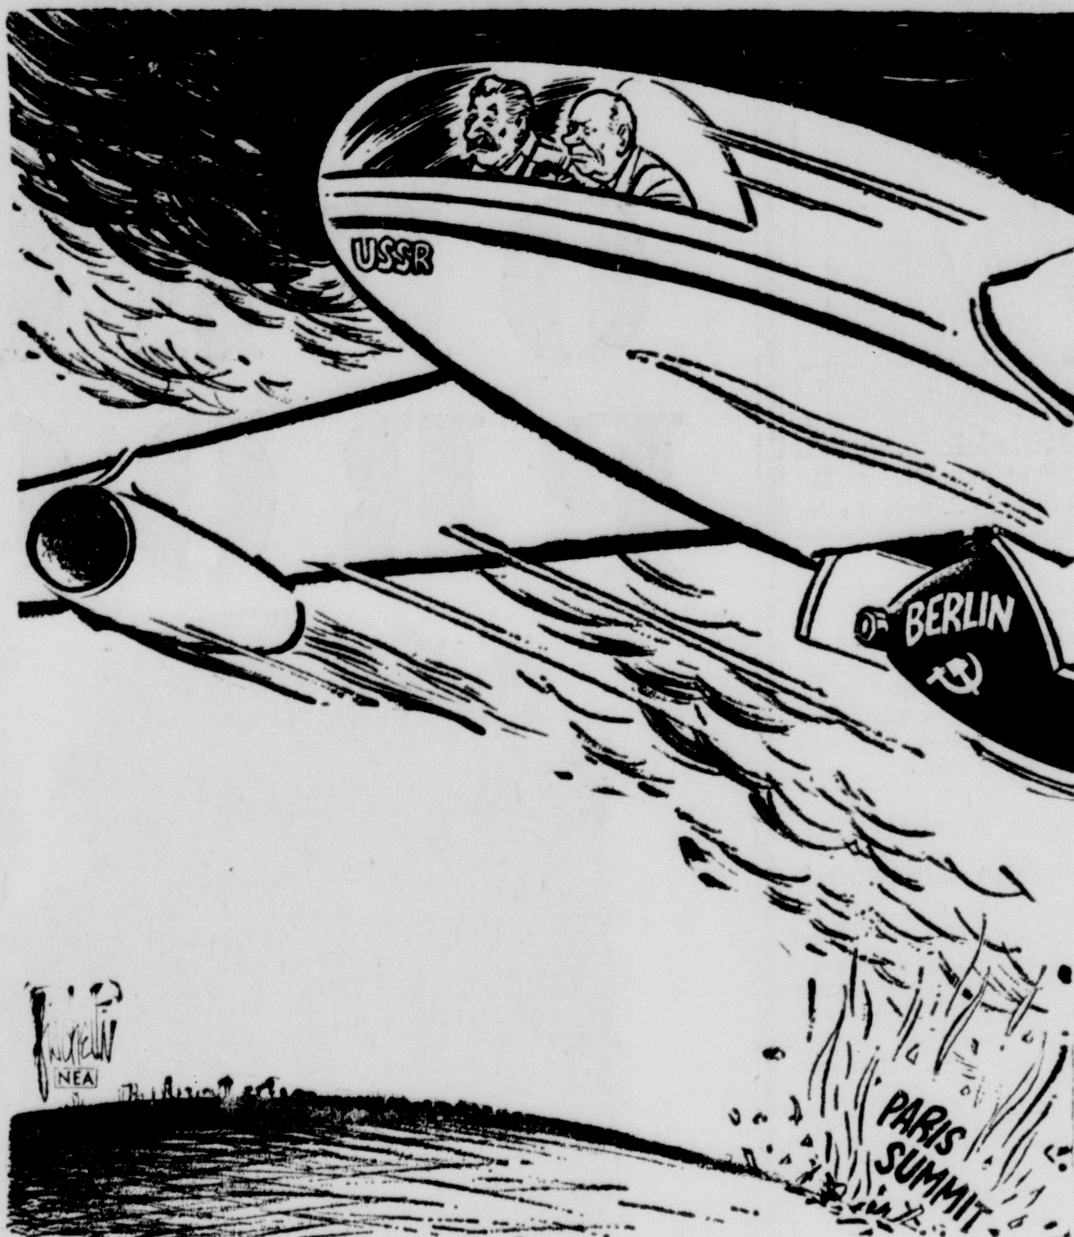

Ernest Hemingway has been photographed with Fidel Castro at the end of a big fishing contest in which the score is given as Fidel; Ernie O. Hemingway looked fairly uncomfortable and for once may have surrendered on the high seas in interest of peace.

Moscow may claim the spaceship has just found a live Soviet stowaway member aboard and that he and the dummy are playing first-around-the-world-in-95 minutes chess game.

World suspected that when Khrushchev announced he would reach Paris two days ahead of free world leaders he had something up his sleeves besides another Russian proverb. But a spaceship launched without mishap and running on time let Moscow steal the show.

The Devil Is My Co-Pilot

Youth and the Draft

By JERRY KLEIN

Armed Forces Day highlights once again the controversy about drafting young men into U.S. military service.

Great numbers of young Americans are apparently deeply resentful over being called up for defense training at a time when the country is technically at peace. It is a situation of which defense officials are painfully aware and are doing their best to correct.

Just recently, a two-year Boys Cubs of America survey of more than 1,000 teen-agers found that a full 30 per cent expressed strong objections against being drafted.

Some went so far as to state: "I will not be drafted!"

The survey covered 100 different communities throughout the United States. It cost $50,000—donated by the Grant Foundation and was conducted in cooperation with the University of Michigan's Center for Social Research.

Some 35 per cent of the young men questioned said "a little hopelessly" that they would submit to the draft "if they had to." Approximately an equal number expressed their intention to enlist in the armed forces.

Youths have toward being drafted. The negative attitude so many ed seems "unrealistic" to the Boys Clubs' assistant director of program services, John P. Scagnelli. He said these boys seem to have a "complete lack of understanding of the requirements for military service."

Similar views recently were expressed on the draft problem by Dewey Short, assistant secretary of the Army. "It is not our pleasure to take three or four years out of our young men's lives to teach them to wage war," he remarked, "but the alternative—bondage—has always been repugnant to all Americans."

Military service "is not something imposed upon us by a dictatorship for its own selfish ends," Short declared, "it expresses the will of the American people to protect their ideals and their country."

"It is not only a positive value to our society but even above that it is crucial to the security of every citizen . . . it is incumbent upon all of us to shoulder our fair share of the burden of our nation's defense if we are to preserve our way of life."

Secretary Short said: "Personal sacrifice to the common good has made our nation what it is today . . . loyalty to the principles for which we stand must be instilled in our children at the earliest possible age."

The defense official stressed the role parents play in preparing their sons for military duty. "If fathers and mothers look on military service as nothing more than an extremely distasteful inconvenience, then in all probability so will their children," he said.

"In these turbulent times it is up to every parent to view military service as their sons' essential contribution toward the preservation of human dignity, liberty and freedom—in short, of America."

We must train our youth so that should war come, they will be best prepared to survive. Short declared. "As blisters and soreness give way to hard muscle and the youth comes to understand the ordered logic of military life, he gains pride not only in himself but in his outfit and in his country." ## Politics and Spy Case

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Americans Glad U. S. Keeping Tabs on Russia

No one, not even a thousand George Gallups, should venture what the considered opinion of the American people may be on any matter of importance.

The best judges of the immediate reaction to any event, issue or public decision are those who, after many years of experience in public affairs, have so identified themselves with average Americans as to reflect public opinion from their own sense of right or wrong or practical.

Many members of Congress have this capacity. So do experienced editors and other newspapermen who are not too close to the Washington atmosphere, which is colored so much by representatives of European countries resident there.

If we take British official opinion as an example, there can be no doubt about the reaction to the U2 episode. The leaders of both political parties there have immense confidence in summit meetings.

FIVE YEARS AGO, I was in England reporting the general election. In the midst of the debate President Eisenhower announced his support of a summit meeting.

There is no doubt whatever that this made many Conservative votes for that party was in power and has made a summit meeting a major promise.

This Conservative appeal far outdistanced the rather vague appeals of Labor for an end to nuclear testing.

The same feeling prevailed last October when I was there again. Macmillan got plenty of mileage from the claim that he was best able to get concessions from both the Soviet and the United States.

British opinion has great influence in our Eastern seaboard and in Washington and while the British government has been engaged in all sorts of espionage since long before Columbus discovered America, it deplores the present spy incident.

Possibly this is because we were caught. Also, because we timed things wrong. Also, because we were frank in admitting it.

But over the country, I believe, most Americans approach the Soviet problem from a quite different point of view.

Revelations of Soviet rascality, including their persistent meddling in our affairs here, have changed our reaction toward what we would once have regarded as a breach of our idealistic policies. Moreover, Americans generally are heartily sick of Khrushchev's bluster and threats.

We are sorry that Powers had the ill luck or mechanical trouble which resulted in his capture but we are also glad that our government has been meeting the Soviet on its own terms. We want to know as much about Russian strength as they know about ours.

THIS DEEPLY imbedded American view was well reflected by Sen. Johnson of Texas and Congressman Cannon of Missouri. They made no apologies. They hurled the challenge back at Khrushchev.

And Cannon made clear that the practice of reconnaissance flights over the past four years, as well as this particular flight, had been reported regularly to his subcommittee.

In short, as politicians who have proved their skill in many elections, they were warning their Democratic party to make no mistake about its peril in trying to win votes on this issue.

Adlai Stevenson, however, deplores with alarm. He says that we should no longer engage in "tribal feuding." We are exhorted to set an example of innocence and purity.

We have been setting that example over many years. We indicated it in two world wars from which we gained nothing but the ingratitude of Communism.

Stevenson is not seeking political advantage in saying. But his position on this issue betrays that. And he is as greatly mistaken as he was in 1956 when he advocated our unilateral abandonment of nuclear tests as a last desperate appeal in the campaign. He is as mistaken now as he was then.

The over-riding responsibility of the President is to see to it that we are safe from surprise attack and destruction by an avowed enemy. This responsibility he has accepted. Americans agree with him.

An Evening With Nixon

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The career of Richard Nixon has shown a rare sort of politician who never takes the politic and easy course.

If two roads are open to him—one tortuous, dangerous, and long; the other easy to travel or to bypass—he will take the hard way. It would almost seem that he has for years been deliberately hardening himself for the office to which he currently aspires.

He has had spots of luck, such as the haphazard choice made by Gen. Eisenhower when he was chosen as a candidate for vice president.

Once in that office, he declined to exercise its pleasant prerogatives and prerequisites of acting as a ceremonial figure on occasions when the President was otherwise occupied.

Instead he chose hard assignments, kept in the thick of policy making, developed an understanding of an infinite variety of governmental activities.

HE KNEW there would be trouble in Caracas on his South American tour and had a generous assortment of friendly Latin American neighbors to visit instead. But he faced and endured an unbelievably savage personal physical attack.

Recently in New York in a television interview he faced an equally dangerous situation. It was not a peril threatening his life but it could have ended in disastrous consequences to his political future.

This assignment he freely accepted and he came through with great credit to himself. Since the viewing audience was limited to the New Jersey-New York area, with only 15 stations participating elsewhere, some explanation is necessary here.

A television producer, David Susskind, has a show called "Open End." Apparently, that means that the questioning goes on till I don't know when. It begins at 10 in the evening and runs on until the small hours of morning.

Sometimes there are a number of participants but in the Nixon appearance the only other was Susskind as questioner. According to one TV critic, the interview ran on until 2:30 a.m. Others say 1:45 a.m.

All I know is that after keeping my eyes open and my posture erect; I had to quit watching and listening at 1 a.m. because of ut-

Daughters of Union Veterans Celebrate

Four charter members were present when Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Mary Ellet Tent No. 70, celebrated its 36th anniversary at a recent coverdish dinner meeting in the home of Mrs. Wallace Stewart of Jennings Ave.

In attendance were those pictured above: Seated (l. to r.) Mrs. Charles Mangus, treasurer; Mrs. Wallace Stewart, secretary; Mrs. Cecil Baxter, chaplain; Mrs. Ella Ferrall, Miss Lucille Baker, Mrs. Sadie Zimmerman, Mrs. Willa m Probert; standing (l. to r.) Mrs. Mary Yoho, Mrs. Vera Chamberlain, Mrs. Leroy Shepard, Mrs. Arnold Greene, Mrs. John Litty, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. Blaine McClaskey, second vice president. Absent when the picture was taken was the president, Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton.

The charter members are Mrs. John Litty and Mrs. Ella Probert, both of Salem, Mrs. Vera Chamberlain of Beloit and Mrs. Mary Yoho of Hawkins Lake.

A history of the chapter, compiled by Mrs. Probert and Mrs. Litty, the only two members who have served the organization as historian since its organization on May 6, 1924, was reviewed by Mrs. Litty.

Miss Lucille Baker presented a reading, "Decoration Day," by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Mrs. Litty presided at the business session. She reported on the meeting of the Salem Memorial Day Association, which she attended as a representative of the Daughters of Union Veterans. She announced that a special meeting will be held May 27 at 7 p.m. in the GAR Hall, when a garland of evergreens will be made for use at Hope Cemetery on Memorial Day. Volunteering their help for this project were Mrs. Arnold Greene, Mrs. Blaine McClaskey, Mrs. Litty, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Charles Mangus, Mrs. Stewart, Miss Baker and Mrs. Harry Sherwood.

Mrs. Litty also announced that, through the Memorial Day Association, an invitation was extended to all patriotic orders in Salem to attend morning worship service at the Church of Our Saviour May 29.

A red, white and blue patriotic theme was used as decorations for the table where the 17 members and a guest, Mrs. Gertrude Fultz, were seated for dinner preceding the meeting. A cake, decorated in the birthday motif with the number 36, the anniversary year, was made by Mrs. Litty. Miniature "old fashioned girls," dressed in red, white and blue, were the favors made by Mrs. Robinson. Members are reminded to take a sack lunch to the June 7 meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Greene on E. 3rd St.

Decorations, in keeping with the shower theme, featured a white crepe paper covered umbrella trimmed with coral colored flowers. The coral shade predominated in the floral arrangements decorating the home throughout and in the buffet table centerpiece which was fashioned of white sweetpeas, accented by a bride and bridegroom figurine and flanked by lighted tapers. The cake, decorated in the same colors, was inscribed with "Peggy and Hank 8 May 28." Favors were white swans and white parasols tied with shrimp colored bows.

Game prizes went to Mrs. William Baker, Miss Carol Debnar and Mrs. Martin.

Another courtesy for Miss Martin was a dinner party given by Mrs. James Connell in the Oberlin Inn at Oberlin. The guest list include 50 relatives and friends of the bride-to-be and the prospective bridegroom.

Coral and white carnations, wedding bells and a bride and bridegroom ornament were combined in the table centerpiece. Marking each place setting was a ceramic doll atop a miniature cake frosted to resemble a bouffant skirt. The cake at Miss Martin's place was in bridal white, while the others were coral, carrying out the color chosen by the bride for her attendant's gowns. A white picture hat touched with coral completed each doll's costume.

A white orchid corsage was presented to the future bride, while corsages of coral flowers were given to Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Webster and the girls who will attend the bride at her wedding.

received from Soviet headquarters stating that the plane "was landed safely" near Schwerin. The reply also stated that the plane, the crew and passengers were safe and under the control of the Soviet military kommandatura at Schwerin.

"A message was promptly dispatched from Gen. Eddleman to Gen. Yakubovsky requesting that necessary measures be taken to secure the immediate return of the plane, the crew and the passengers."

The East German report of the seizure had said eight persons were aboard.

This is the first time in a series of similar incidents that a woman has been aboard a U.S. plane landing in East Germany.

Mrs. McCash's husband is an Air Force doctor, stationed at Wheelus Air Field in Libya, North Africa. They were on a morale flight—an annual vacation trip—to Europe. The Air Force said Airman Garvin also was on authorized leave. The others were described as on official business in Copenhagen and Hamburg.

The plane came down while Premier Nikita Khrushchev was visiting East German officials on his way home from the summit conference, blown up by Soviet anger over the May Day spy plane incident.

The transfer of the group from the East Germans to the Soviets gives the case an unusual tack.

Normally the Soviet response to American inquiries would have been that the plane and its occupants were in East German hands and that the United States would have to deal with the East Germans to get them back.

The Soviets have regularly played these incidents as if they had nothing to do with them and the Western Allies must negotiate with the East German government.

This the Allies always have refused to do. They do not recognize the East German regime and maintain any dealings about activities in East Germany must be made with the Soviets.

Red Cross negotiations, taken outside official government circles, have been the normal course of action in getting the crews of strayed planes back.

If the Soviets continue to keep the plane affair a Soviet-American issue, American officials said, it may blow over without a new violent exchange between Moscow and Washington.

An East German government spokesman refused to comment. "I can't tell you a word more than has been broadcast on our radios," he said. "By the way, tomorrow is Sunday and we have to relax after the visit of Nikita Khrushchev. You may get more news on Monday."

The Air Force turned the case over to the U.S. State Department, apparently anticipating that East Germany would try to force the United States into direct negotiations.

GUILTY ON TAX COUNT

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The owner of the Pleasant Electric Co. of Cincinnati, Mrs. Eleanor Hust Hickman, was found guilty on two counts of income tax evasion in U.S. District Court Friday.

Judge Carl Weiman fined her $10,000 on one count and handed down a two-year suspended sentence with probation on the other count. But the judge added that 900 in 15 days the two-year suspended sentence would be revoked.

Mahoning

tending to destroy a "perfectly good school" in Sebring.

He declared it will also cause crowded conditions in the Goshen School and thus deprive some children temporarily of the proper educational requirements.

He said "a student is only a junior once and only a senior once and if he misses the incentive to go on to college, it's gone for good."

The split might have gone another way, according to Mr. Hull, and still have been satisfactory to him. He indicated that if the proposed split would have left Smith Township in Mahoning County in the Mahoning School District, he would have voted for the plan. This would have left those children in Smith Township going to Sebring School where they went in the past, and those others in the townships going to the schools they now attend.

One of the reasons for the failure of the school building program under the old district, according to Mr. Hull, was the location of the proposed building site. He said had the site been in Sebring, that city probably would have gone along with the proposal. However, the program asked that Sebring be required to take buses to get to and from high school classes which appeared uncalculated for, Mr. Hull said.

He noted that the old proposal would have had almost all students going to school in buses when it was possible to have about 300 walk. Had this not been the case, Sebring might have gone for the program, Mr. Hull said.

The building program was necessary in the Mahoning Local because of the size of the existing high schools and the number of students enrolled. In the five years of the District's existence, the high school students were split between Goshen Union and Sebring. Neither school was adequate to handle all, it was noted.

New Boards to Function

Superintendent Smith noted that the new school at West Branch would include present members include Richard Burton and L. Denny, Dr. J. Fred Jose, and Norman Barnett. Proposed members include Richard Burton and Leland Glass.

In the Mahoning Local, District, George Gotschall and Charles Mercer will remain on the board and will name three others.

County Board voting for the split were Atty. James E. Bennett Jr. of Poland, Atty. John C. Eschliman of Boardman, Harold Ohl of Austintown and H. O. Stanley of Damascus.

Four Young Drivers Receive Penalties

LISBON — Traffic court hearings at the Courthouse have resulted in the suspension of the driving permit of one juvenile motorist and the fining of three others.

Evalyn Rose Stanley, 17, of East Palestine RD 2, received a 30-day suspension for reckless operation.

Anthony J. Baker, 17, of Leetonia was fined $15, and Jan A. Halverstadt, 17, of Lisbon RD 3, $5 for reckless operation.

James A. Cain, 17, of Salem RD 1, was fined $5 for no muffler, and his license was held till he can show that the defect has been repaired. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Sox, Gene Tullis, each 10 years; and James E. Starkey, five years.

No One Hurt As Tornadoes Hit 3 States

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers damped the Missouri Valley, the Great Lakes region and the Pacific Northwest today after a night of swift winds, heavy rains and fog.

Tornadoes touched down in Iowa, Illinois and Indiana but damage was light and no injuries were reported.

One twister flattened a house and barn about 60 miles northwest of Des Moines. Another blew down power lines near Elwood in central Illinois. A third funnel cloud reportedly touched ground north of LaPorte, Ind.

Gusty winds up to 55 m.p.h. demolished eight garages and rolled up metal roofing as though it were newspaper in Germantown, Ohio, near Dayton. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Fog also took its toll. Four freighters collided in two separate accidents on mist-shrouded Lake Huron. One sank to the bottom of the 27-foot channel, but there were no reports of injuries on any of the four ships.

In Milwaukee, The Chicago Cubs-Braves game was called because of fog.

Rainfall was heavy from Minnesota to Texas. Fort Smith, Ark., reported 2.3 inches of rain in 24 hours. Brownsville, Tex., registered 1.48 inches in six hours, Norfolk, Neb., 1.52 inches in a similar period. Green Bay, Wis., had 1.50 inches.

Hundreds of basements were flooded in Minneapolis from a quick 1.02 inch rainfall. Waters from a flood burst through the windows into the first floor of the Angelus Nursing home, forcing eight elderly persons to seek safety on upper levels.

Heavy rains in Arkansas flooded some roads and forced postponement of the second round of the Hot Springs Open golf tournament.

Khrushchev

jammed together as Khrushchev came down the ramp from the plane.

Representatives of each sector took the microphone to pledge the support of themselves and their fellows to Khrushchev and to hail him for the stands he took in Paris and Berlin.

Among the first to shake his hand was party theoretician Mikhail Suslov.

As usual in his airport appearances, he smiled broadly, waved enthusiastically, and affectionately patted children who clustered around.

No U. S. Representative

No representative of the United States Embassy was at the airport to welcome Khrushchev as he left Berlin following a three-day visit.

Khrushchev looked weary and subdued as he left Berlin following his unity talks with East German leaders. His departure was quieter than when he arrived two days ago.

The Soviet Premier left ahead of schedule and thousands of East Berliners marching to the route to see him off got there too late.

Khrushchev, who pledged Friday night to leave things as the are in West Berlin until he is ready for a new summit conference, read a brief farewell statement in a tired voice at East Berlin's Schoenefeld Airport.

"As you know," he said, "we spoke with leading personalities of East Germany over international problems and particularly those problems resulting from the toppling of the summit conference. There was absolute unanimity between us."

"We will work persistently for a solution of international differences on the basis of the policy of peaceful coexistence. The unity of the Socialist camp is a unshakable power. Let us strengthen this Socialist brotherhood and guarantee a peaceful life."

Arrived With Ulbricht

The 66-year-old Soviet leader arrived at the airport with Communist boss Walter Ulbricht. He reviewed an honor guard and acknowledged the handclapping of Communist functionaries on hand.

East German Premier Otto Grotewohl was not present. He was reportedly sick.

Khrushchev stayed in Berlin less than two days en route home from the shattered summit conference in Paris.

He spent most of his time in secret conferences with East German leaders within the walls of a government compound surrounding the Imperial Niederschoenhause Castle.

The Soviet Premier left the castle 14 minutes ahead of time to the cheers of about 2,000 people. Another 2,000 school children were still on their way through a nearby parking lot to see him off.

On Stalinallee—the great boulevard in the middle of East Berlin—the spectators were almost entirely schoolchildren. There was hardly an adult to be seen by Western reporters.

As Khrushchev rode by waving, there was little response. The children waved their flags, but there was no cheering.

In an hour-long speech Friday to 8,000 Communists in East Berlin, Khrushchev repeated his denunciations of President Eisenhower over the U2 spy plane incident.

He coupled the name of the President with that of Konrad Adenauer, the West German chancellor and one of his pet hates. Khrushchev said he was not insisting on a summit without President Eisenhower, though a six month delay would guarantee that. In November a new president will be elected.

The new president, Khrushchev pointed out, might also be one whose "policies are directed by the reactionary forces of the Pentagon."

Khrushchev repeated his demand that a peace treaty be signed "with the two German states that actually exist." But he made no threats for the immediate future.

SISTER-IN-LAW DIES

Mrs. Charles Bennington of Liberty St. has received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Birdie Bell Thompson, 77, of Grafton, W. Va., who died May 13.

Her husband, Denver Thompson died seven years ago.

Two children, Herbert of Grafton and Mrs. Birdie Bell Jones of Norton, Va., a brother, a sister and a grandchild also survive. Services were held in Grafton.

Policeman, Robber Killed In Gun Fight

DETROIT (AP)—A robber loaded with stolen money tried to shoot his way past two policemen and killed one of them but was shot to death by the other Friday night.

James Meeks, 32, the dead policeman, and Robert Hislop, his squad car partner, had answered a "robbery in progress" call at a supermarket on the near West Side.

Hislop told newsmen, "We pulled up just short of the store and saw a colored man and a colored woman backing out of the store."

"Jim was driving. He pulled his gun and jumped out and I got out on the far side of the car. As I did, I fired shots. I saw Jim go down. I fired at the man and saw him go down."

"Then I ran over to Jim. As I got to him I saw the colored man reach for his gun which had fallen to the ground about six feet from him. I fired again. I don't know how many times. Then I went to my partner."

Meeks had emptied his pistol and Hislop had fired four times. The robber was struck by five bullets. His own slug hit Meeks in the heart.

Both men were dead on arrival at a hospital.

Police identified the gunman as Eugene Cunningham, 42, an ex-convict they said had a long record.

A few hours later police arrested Faye Hill, 19, who they said admitted being implicated. A store employee, Fred Clinkscales, 16, also was detained. Both were held for investigation.

Warren cracks 5 Records In Winning N.E.O. Track Meet

Takes Nine Firsts; Quakers End 4th

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
A phenomenal track team from Warren shattered five records in winning nine of 14 events to completely spread-eagle the remainder of the 34-team field in the N.E.O. District meet held before a huge crowd here at Reilly Stadium Friday.

After holding second place for most of the meet, the Salem Quakers slipped to fourth after the final event, the mile relay. Alliance and Youngstown East tied for the runner-up spot with 19 points apiece. The Quakers wound up with 18 1/2.

Salem picked up a fourth place in the final event, but Alliance got a second and Youngstown East collected a third. If the Salem mile relay team had beaten out East for third place, the Quakers would have taken home the runner-up trophy in the meet.

A rundown of the 24 teams which broke into the scoring column shows Warren, 61; Alliance, 19; Youngstown East, 19; Salem, 18 1/2; Boardman, 12; Poland, 12; Youngstown Rayen, 11; East Palestine, 8 1/2; Niles 7 1/2; Leavittsburg, 7 1/2.

Youngstown Chaney, 6; Youngstown, Ursuline, 6; Lisbon, 6; Youngstown South, 5; Canfield, 5; Ravenna, 4 1/2; Marlinton, 3 1/2; Youngstown North, 2 1/2; Struthers, 2; Youngstown Wilson, 2; Kent Roosevelt, 2; Kent State, 2; Austintown Fitch, 1; and Cortland, 1.

TEN TEAMS which failed to score were Mantua, Champion, United, Sebring, Howland, Beaver Local, Hudson, Cardinal Mooney, Hubbard and Columbiana.

Oddly enough, the Salem Quakers qualified more men for the state meet next week than did Warren Harding. Salem will send 11 men to Columbus while Warren qualified eight.

However, the powerful Panthers had two men who qualified in four events, one who was a triple winner and one a double winner, besides four other men who qualified in single events.

Salem men qualifying for the state meet were Jim Lehwald with a tie for first in the pole vault; Bob Zeppernick a third in the discus; Jim Solmen a third in the mile; the fourth place half mile relay team of Gary Devan, Dave Edling, Ron Janovec and Tim Burchfield; Dan Krichbaum a second in the 440; and the mile relay team of Krichbaum, Gordy Scullion, Dick Burt and Tom Floyd which tied for fourth.

The first four qualifiers in each event are eligible for the state meet. Other area trackmen who earned the right to participate in the state meet were Jack Istnick and Rich Liber of East Palestine who tied for first in the pole vault; Canfield's Tom Sopkovich, a fourth in the shot put, and Terry Brown, a fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles; and Lisbon's fleet Tom Brooks who placed third in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

RECORDS SNAPPED by the Warren outfit last night were by Paul Warfield, the 180-yard low hurdles; Marvin Howard, the 220 and 440-yard dashes; George Tracy in the mile; and the half mile relay team of Warfield, Howard, Ray Butler and Eric Thompson. For setting two records and sharing a third new standard, Howard was presented the Ben Schars trophy as the meet's most outstanding performer.

With the exception of a first and second place finish in the broad jump, Warren was shut out in the five field events which were completed in the afternoon. Of the nine track events, the Panthers failed to score in only the 120-yard high hurdles.

The meet was scored on a 6-4-3-2-1 point basis. Warfield made only one try in the broad jump and went 21 ft. 1 in. No one was able to top this so the talented athlete decided to conserve his energy for the running events.

Warfield on may occasions this season has broad jumped farther than the 22 ft. 9 in. which is the district record.

George Horne of Leavittsburg won the high jump as expected. He cleared 6 ft. 1 1/4 in.

YOUNGSTOWN EAST'S JIM SNOWDEN used his final attempt in the shot put to defeat Jim Davidson of Alliance. Snowden defended his district title successfully by tossing the iron ball 52 ft. 10 in.

To no one's surprise, Dick Sfora of Youngstown Rayen won the discus with a heave of 148 ft. 7 in. He has done better, however.

All four state qualifiers in the pole vault tied for first place at 11 ft. 2 in. They were Lehwald of Salem, Istnick and Lert of East Palestine and Mike Bahler of Marlinton. Salem's Charlie Horn tallied one point for his team by finishing fifth.

Paul Hruska of Youngstown Chaney replaced Poland's Jim Glaser as district high hurdles champion. Last year Glaser was first and Hruska third. The Chaney hurdler defended the standing this year. Charlie King of Alliance was second.

Lisbon's one-man track team,

Tom Brooks, tallied six points with thirds in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. He beat out 21 other schools in the meet. The Blue Devils placed in a three-way tie for 11th in the district on the strength of Brook's efforts.

BROOKS BROKE into the track game in spectacular fashion last week in the Columbiana County meet by winning the 100-yard dash the first time he ever took part in a meet.

Warfield won the 100 at 9.9, one tenth of a second off the district record. Howard won the 220 in 22.3 which tied the old record. However, Howard had been clocked at 21.9 in the prelims. This time will go into the record book.

Tracy was all alone at the finish when he turned in his record-breaking mile of 4:28. Salem's Jim Solmen ran a strong race but had to settle for third behind Sowers of Poland. Ron Watt of East Palestine placed fifth.

Warren's easy victory in the half mile relay was expected but its triumph over Alliance in the mile relay was a surprise. The Panthers' winning time in the mile relay was 3:41.8, far off the district record of 3:29.9.

SALEM GOT IN the same mile relay heat as Youngstown Rayen. Gordy Scullion ran the third leg for Salem and put his team within striking distance of the two frontrunners. Then Dan Krichbaum got the baton and shot around both opponents who had been ahead of him.

Youngstown Rayen closed the gap in the last 200 yards and both boys ran neck and neck in the stretch. Krichbaum broke the tape but both teams were clocked in the same time.

Warren, Alliance and Youngstown East all ran in a faster heat, leaving Salem and Rayen in a tie for fourth.

Columbiana also won its heat in the half mile relay but failed to place in the first five finalists.

Probably the most impressive win of the evening was Howard's record-smashing time of 49.0 in the 440. He had a tremendous lead over the rest of the field. Krichbaum, who won his heat in the good time of 52.2, placed a distant second to Howard.

RANTILLA OF WARREN was pushed into his 880 record of 2:00.7 by an excellent field of half milers. He was presented the Nick Tsaknis Memorial Trophy by the Campbell Memorial Boosters Club for winning the 880. The trophy is presented annually to the winner of the half mile in memory of Nick Tsaknis who was killed in the Korean War. Since 1949 Tsaknis shared the half mile record which Rantilla broke last night.

Medals were presented for the first three places in each event. Fourth and fifth place finishers received ribbons. Meet Director Fred Cope reported that approximately 3,500 persons attended the finals last night, the largest crowd to turn out for a track meet here in many years.

INDIANS ALWAYS FIRST WITH HAWKINS — It was a big day when Wynn Hawkins of New Waterford signed his professional baseball contract in 1955. The event was recorded by a newspaper photographer. Posing with Wynn were Ed Wright (left), Cleveland Indian scout from the Youngstown area, and his father, Paul M. Hawkins, who played such an important role in developing him into a good pitcher. This is Hawkins' sixth year in the Tribe system and a memorable one for he made the big jump to the Indians' roster.

Always Admired Indians; Now He's One of Them

Hawkins Achieves His Goal

(LAST OF A SERIES)

Wynn Hawkins had his heart on playing for the Cleveland Indians from the time he was given his first baseball glove.

"The Indians always were my favorite team," Hawkins said. "I guess it goes back to the days when my father would take me to Cleveland to see them play."

Ed Wright, the Cleveland scout who signed Hawkins, was asked how long he waited to sign the young pitcher.

"I waited all my life for Wynn to come along," replied Wright with a smile. "I knew from the first time I saw him pitch that he would make it to the major leagues."

"He's such a fine kid too," Wright added. "He's quiet, well-mannered and likeable. He's just a great kid."

WRIGHT IS THE Cleveland scout in the Youngstown area. Hawkins first caught his eye when he still was in grade school. He was pitching American Legion ball. "He had a lot of poise for a youngster. And he always had good control," Wright said.

When Hawkins was graduated from New Waterford High School in 1954, Wright was waiting with pen in hand. However, Wynn decided to play sandlot baseball that summer rather than sign a pro contract.

He pitched for McKelvy's of Youngstown. Young Hawkins had scouts from just about every major league team pestering him to sign a contract. He wanted to finish out the season. He pitched McKelvy's to the National Amateur Baseball Federation championship.

Wynn entered Baldwin-Wallace College in 1955 where he was a star in basketball. Each year, he would head for the Tribe's minor league training camp at Daytona Beach, Fla., right after basketball season concluded.

THIS SEASON he was invited to Tucson with the Indians. Like many stories of success, this one also has a twist.

Hawkins was highly regarded before he came to camp. However, more highly regarded was Carl Mathias, a 5-foot-11, 190-pound right hander from Oley, Pa.

Mathias, a teammate of Hawkins at Mobile last season, had a 17-9 record, struck out 183, walked only 73 and posted a 2.90 earned run average last year.

Hawkins' record was 14.9. He struck out 149 walked 99 and had a 2.55 earned run average. Hawkins had pitched 226 innings to Mathias' 205 last season.

However, Mathias had to serve six months in military service and he was unable to get his release in time to report to Tucson.

Hawkins was the man on the spot. Coach Mel Harder, who had intended spending considerable time with Mathias, now found he would have to devote that time to other prospects.

HAWKINS WAS the fellow. He made an early impression. Manager Joe Gordon liked him from the first time he saw him throw. "He's going to be a good one," Gordon said.

"Hawkins has exceptionally good control for a young pitcher," Harder said. "He has good pitching form, a good repertoire of pitches and, more important a willingness to pick up as much knowledge as he can about pitching."

"His best pitch is a fork ball, which is really a change up thrown with the same motion as his fast ball. However, his fork ball sinks as it reaches the plate. It's a tough pitch to hit," Harder added. "Wynn has a lot of poise for a youngster," said Gordon. "He looks like a veteran out there on the mound. We believe he's going to be a real good one. He already has done a very fine job for us."

WHEN HAWKINS signed with the Indians, he knew that the Tribe had some great pitchers and it would be tough to break in. "But I figured they couldn't last forever, so I would have to get my chance some time," Hawkins stated.

The opportunity presented itself this spring and he was on the spot to make the most of it.

Wynn's father continues to watch over his son's career carefully. "My father cautioned me not to pitch too soon after I was hit on the right shoulder in Baltimore May 5," said Wynn.

"He keeps reminding me that it's the only arm I'll ever have and I better take good care of it. He always advised me on how and when to pitch. He never allowed me to throw hard early in the spring and I wasn't allowed to throw very many curves when I was just learning."

"I was just bruised by that line drive, so I was ready to pitch in my regular turn," the 24-year-old Hawkins said.

HAWKINS HAS a 3-3 record

Tigers Hand 4-3 Loss to Orioles

By The Associated Press
No matter how you spell it, Ted Kluszewski or Kluszewski, he's still Big Klu.

The guy whose arms and bat look like tree trunks walloped home four runs for a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night as the Chicago White Sox remained unbeaten at home and took a 1-game lead in the American League race.

Cleveland moved into second place by defeating Boston 2-0 on the three-hit pitching of Mudcat Grant and relief ace Dick Stigman. Baltimore slipped to third, blowing a 3-1 lead in the ninth for a 4-3 loss at Detroit. Washington's game at Kansas City was rained out.

Kluszewski brought the White Sox from behind with his first home run of the season, a two-run shot off loser Whitey Ford (1-2) in the third inning. Then he clinched their ninth straight success at Comiskey Park with a bases loaded single in a three-run eighth off reliever Ryne Duren.

The Yankees, out-hitting Chicago 10-6, chased winner Early Wynn (21) in the ninth, when Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer. Reliever Turk Lown finally nailed Wynn's 273rd career victory by fanning Bill Skowron with two men on base.

The Indians broke through against Bill Monbouquette (3-3) after being shut out on one hit for six innings. Jimmy Piersall's two-run single did it in the seventh, after a single by Harvey Kuenn, a double by Tito Francona and an intentional walk to Vic Power loaded the bases. Grant (1-1), making his first start of the year, gave up Boston's hits. Stigman saved it by striking out Don Buddin and pinch-hitter Ray Boone and getting Frank Malzone on a fly with the bases loaded in the eighth. The southpaw rookie then struck out two in the ninth as the Red Sox went down to their sixth straight loss.

The Tigers, held to four hits, got their three in the ninth after singles by Norm Cash and Frank Bolling chased reliever Hoyt Wilhelm. Then Milt Pappas (2-4) lost it without allowing a hit. Two walks, pinch-hitter Charlie Maxwell's sacrifice fly and an error by Walt Dropo did it. Tom Morgan (3-0) was the winner in relief of Don Moss.

This is only the beginning of the Hawkins story. Cleveland fans will be reading and hearing about him regularly for a long time.

Elyria Driver Killed In Racing Accident

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Elyria racing car driver was killed as the new Cleveland Speedway opened at nearby Valley View Friday night.

The inaugural program never really got started. Driver Stanley Jalowiec, 31, was killed during a time trial when his car smashed head-on into a steel guard rail and overturned near a curve.

The program was cancelled because of rain before any of the final races could be run.

Jalowiec was service manager for Heiser Motors and had been racing cars for seven years.

The Midwest Association for Race Cars (MARC), which sanctioned the race, issued a statement blaming the crash on a jammed accelerator. Jalowiec had escaped injury after a similar mechanical difficulty last year at the Lorain County Speedway.

The car crashed just past the curve at the north end of the quarter-mile banked asphalt track. As Jalowiec headed into the first turn, the engine roared wide open and struck the guard rail.

He was dead on arrival at Marymount Hospital.

Major League Stars

Pitching — Dick Stigman, Indians, saved 2-0 victory over Red Sox with two-innings of five-strikeout, no-hit relief, fanning Don Buddin and Ray Boone and getting Frank Malzone on fly with bases loaded in eighth.

Hitting — Ted Kluszewski, White Sox, drove in first four runs, with a home-run and bases-loaded single, for 5-3 victory over the Yankees.

No. 22—Right Hand By JIMMY DEMARET

The right hand is placed on the club at an angle identical to the one formed by the club and the left hand.

The little finger of the right hand is snug against the forefinger of the left. The right hand's fingers are close together and on the shaft. As pointed out in the accompanying illustration, the gripping pressure of the right hand is exerted mainly by the middle two fingers.

As I stress in my Golf-To-Music lessons album, as with the left hand there is a slight separation between the forefinger and the next finger of the right hand to increase the gripping area. The thumb of the right hand has closed over the top of the shaft and on to the left side.

The line or V formed by the right hand also points up toward the center of the body or toward the right shoulder. The right hand also will be slightly under the wrist so the right arm and shaft will be as much in line as possible. Thus the right arm and club can work as one throughout the swing.

Finally, the thumb of the left hand is encased in a pocket formed by the placement of the right forefinger and thumb.

As far as the over-all gripping pressure is concerned, the hands are holding the club comfortably without undue tension in the forearms.

NEXT: The grip just before the backswing.

Middle two fingers

2 Tribe Hurlers Limit Red Sox To 3 Hits as Indians Win 2-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians were in second place in the American League today, and the pitching problem that fans were talking about before the season started seems more remote than ever.

Two Tribe hurlers combined to limit the Boston Red Sox to three hits Friday night as the Indians won a 2-0 squeaker.

Winner Jim Grant (1-1) scattered three hits over seven innings and wasn't in trouble until the eighth, when he walked the first two batters.

Rookie Dick Stigman relieved Grant and walked the next man, filling the bases. Then he struck out the next two men and got Frank Malzone to hit a fly to center fielder Jimmy Piersall.

In the ninth inning, again Stigman walked the first man to face him, then proceeded to strike out the next three batters, including Ted Williams, who was pinch hitting.

The crowd of 13,147 gave the 24-year-old southpaw a standing ovation as he left the mound at the end of the game.

Bill Monbouquette, Boston starter and loser (3-3), allowed only four hits in the seven innings he pitched. He held the Indians scoreless until the seventh inning, when the bases were loaded on a single by Harvey Kuenn, a double by Tito Francona and an intentional walk to Vic Power.

Then Jimmy Piersall, a former Red Sox player, banged a single to right field, scoring Kuenn and Francona.

Jim Perry (1-2) goes against Boston's Jerry Casale (2-1) today in the second game of the two-game series.

Baltimore's Orioles come here for a doubleheader Sunday.

Premier Khrushchev Shifts Position on Summit Talks

BERLIN (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev has shifted his position once again. He gives the impression that the Soviets are attempting to keep the free world constantly bewildered and off balance.

In a tone far removed from his bombast of the Paris summit conference, Khrushchev seems to have withdrawn one of his conditions to a new top-level meeting—though not for a meeting with President Eisenhower.

Must Understand Position

The West, he said in East Berlin Friday night, must understand the Communist position correctly, and "not allow any steps which would hinder a meeting of the chiefs of government in six to eight months."

There was no mention whatever in Khrushchev's fairly subdued and apathetically delivered East Berlin address of an apology from the United States for the spy plane incident and punishment of those responsible as prerequisites for another Soviet conference.

This is how the picture of the Soviet maneuvering is beginning to appear now:

The Soviets saw no possibility of significant concessions from the West at the summit on the West Berlin and German questions. They ran the risk of a showdown in which—unless they wanted the most dangerous of crises to develop—the Soviets would have to back track.

Piece of Good Luck

For Khrushchev, the spy plane incident probably was a piece of good luck. It gave him the excuse for blowing up the summit conference and avoiding the unpleasant aspects of a showdown in Paris, which could have had serious repercussions for Khrushchev in his own political back yard.

But by exploding the summit, the Communists created a new feeling of cold war tension in the West. Moscow now stands to suffer propaganda setbacks as a result.

Khrushchev, having probably satisfied the Stalinists and Chinese Communists and whatever other forces have been exerting pressure on him in his own camp, now must take a look at the threat to the carefully planned and executed Red peaceful co-existence campaign. The Communists had hoped to accomplish much in this campaign by way of lulling the non-Communist world and weakening its resistance. Pressure on West Berlin at this moment would only heighten the feeling of tension and crisis and stiffen the back of the West. Moscow obviously would have to shoulder the blame. So Khrushchev came to his East Berlin Communists empty-handed and told them they had no choice but to mark time and wait.

Pre-Natal Classes To Start June 1

The Columbiana County Health Department announced today that a new series of pre-natal classes will start Wednesday, June 1, at 1:30 p.m. in the health department's offices on the third floor of the Courthouse at Lisbon. Mrs. Violet Peterson, staff nurse, will be the instructor. Hospital routine, and plans will be made to visit area hospitals.

This will be the fifth course of instruction for expectant mothers offered by the health department. The course will consist of six weekly classes and will cover information relating to pregnancy, the hospital experience, labor and delivery, and the care of the baby.

Demonstrations of the baby's bath and formula preparation will be included. Because of the limited facilities, the enrollment will be limited to 15 members. Those desiring to attend the classes are urged to register promptly by calling the Health Department Office, HA 4-7221.

The Welcome Wagon Club of Lisbon will again act as hostesses and serve refreshments. The Lisbon club will make a small assement to help defray the cost of refreshments. There is no other charge.
